Wintergarden History

The Wintergarden site was originally a lawned promenade, 'The Piazza' at the western face of the Casino Building, with a Porte Cochere entry to the Casino on that side.

A new building in this area was dramatically sited on one half of the piazza, opening in March 1939 – The Bellevue Lounge Bar (later "Casino Lounge" then "Megalong Room")

Foy's nephew, J.C. Macken, who was entrusted with the task of managing the hotel, held a cocktail party in celebration of its opening; reportedly more than 4,000 cocktails were served to a 300-strong crowd during the course of the party.

The room was very new and ultra-modern, with its streamline architecture. The colour scheme is of beige and pillar box red, with chrome fittings. Cosy lounges, upholstered in leather, surround the log fires.

In 1947 Fireplace is likely to have been constructed and was originally installed in the no longer existing 1939 building.

In 1987 The Casino Lounge was rebuilt and redecorated and re-named "Megalong Room", a new basement below containing toilets, store and boiler room.

Wintergarden History

The historic western Porte Cochere of the Casino as demolished at this time

In the 1990s there have been two refurbishments, lastly into function/ conference rooms

Wintergarden At Present

Mark Foy had a vision for a 'Wintergarden' to be constructed in the 1930s, which did not eventuate, but a charming water colour rendering remains in the new Passage Bar.

The old "Megalong Room" with its awkward timber and glass corridor has been opened up to create a sweeping salon with the finest views of the Megalong Valley ever seen.

The Wintergarden is re-born as a breathtaking elegant 1930s inspired salon, taking cues from Streamline Moderne – and with a touch of Art Deco inspiration.

Beautiful coffered domed ceilings custom designed lighting pendants and matching wall sconces.

New carpets were again custom-designed by CRD with Brinton's of London, to reflect the design of the original ironwork found in the old Hargraves gate on site – The Hydro Ivy Motif Wall panelling and mirror insets reflect the views at every angle.

Velvet banquette window seating, dining clusters with sofas chairs Beautiful deco inspired cabinets and cut-velvet dining chairs with origin Art Deco Chinees porcelain accessories.

Magnificent original painting from the Hydro Majestic collection Topped off with unparalleled views of the Megalong Valley below A room that says absolute luxury.

The Wintergarden connects superbly to the Casino Lobby as a pre-function area and the new Passage Bar . Seating 220 –240 guests for daily High Teas, Dining and special events, the Wintergarden is a unique and remarkable destination.
